What school do you want to learn?

Institute of art education and cultural studies of the Russian Academy of education took the initiative to upgrade the school under the concept "School of the FUTURE". The school is shown as a cultural environment, as a comfortable space to create conditions for students in the process of cognitive activity. The main idea is to teach students to be independent in their mind and deals.

Although the students play the main role in study, it is very important to engage parents in this process. So the modern students, teachers and parents should take part in creation of "school of the future", which consists of responses to the question "WHAT high SCHOOL do YOU WANT to LEARN?"
