

Art education – at the center of attention

From the published report «Conceptual approaches to the teaching of art in the modern school» of the director of the Federal State Budgetary Scientific Institution «Institute of Art Education and Cultural Studies of the Russian Academy of Education», Ph.D Ekaterina Akishina:

«Art - indirectly and not immediately obvious - has great influence on personal development in the spiritual and moral aspects. The underestimation of knowledge of child in the world through artistic creativity leads subsequently to irreversible and dangerous changes in the spiritual world of a person, indifference, lack of clear value orientations».

The author considers the actual problem of the modern concept of the subject educational area "Art". It is shown that at present in the field of art education the researches have to take into account the factors of the growing influence of popular culture on the youth' mind and perception. The article highlights the main intention of the Concept, direction of its development. The author proves that the concept can become a scientific foundation for the art education.
